1.3. WI-FI ROUTER FOR INTERNET ADMINISTRATION

The networking device that offers internet connectivity on a college campus is commonly referred to as a "College router." In order to manage the large number of users and traffic present in such environments, these routers are frequently more durable than standard consumer-grade routers.

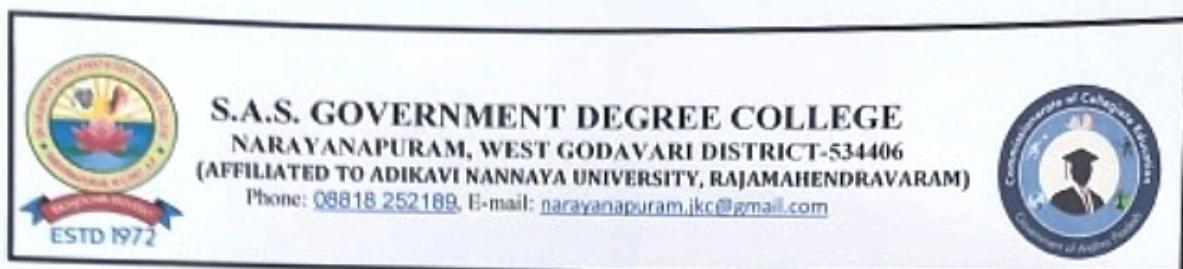

Considerations and important features for a college router are as follows:

Wireless Standards: To guarantee quick and dependable wireless connectivity for every user, the router should support the most recent Wi-Fi standards, such as 802.11ac or 802.11ax.

Strong security features: like WPA3 encryption, firewall protection, and intrusion detection/prevention systems are crucial because of the sensitive nature of college networks and the possibility of cybersecurity threats.

1.8. ONLINE TEACHING - LEARNING PROCESS MONITORING SYSTEM

The Andhra Pradesh government's Commissionerate of Collegiate Education unveiled the app, which makes it easier to manage timetables, leaves, holidays, and assignments. The whole teaching and learning process, including aspects like student attendance, monitoring, assessment, and process strengthening, is captured by this OTLM app. Teachers upload the details of their classes, including pictures, every day. Every instructor and student at the college has registered on the app with their basic information. Their names, subjects, and assigned classes are also mapped by the app onto the schedule. This app is used to report any deviations or adjustments made to classes in the event that teachers are on leave. Furthermore, the app enables the creation of classwork summaries for teachers, days, and months.

2.2 APCFMS

CFMS: THIS SYSTEM IS USED TO SALARY AND OTHER EXPENDITURES BILLS OF THE INSTITUTIONS

Overview of CFMS:

CFMS

The Andhra Pradesh Centre for Financial Systems and Services (APCFSS) is designing, developing, and implementing the Comprehensive Financial Management System (CFMS), an enterprise-level application, on behalf of the Finance Department. A "Single Source of Truth" for the enterprise (i.e., the State) that is accessible to all system stakeholders, real-time information availability, decision-making agility facilitation, speed and certainty of service delivery, convenience for all stakeholders, reduced reconciliations, and enhanced financial discipline in the state are among the broad outcomes anticipated from the implementation of the CFMS project.

The following are the main goals of the CFMS: An enterprise-wide approach suggests that the CFMS solution would be built on a comprehensive strategy that breaks down departmental barriers.

2.3 F-MAP:

The task management software that automates fee collection and fee receipt generation is called a fee management system. It reduces errors and gets rid of duplicate data entries when adding information to college accounts. Public institutions of all sizes are supported by the system. Students and institutions can use this online platform to pay for their fees. It has multiple payment gateway integrations. Parents and students can use it to pay fees online at any time and from any location.

3.2 I-MAP

To assist colleges, the Commissionerate of Collegiate Education created the I-MAP app. It serves as a pillar for enabling easy access to emails on various devices. This App for Monitoring Internships tracks the progress of all students enrolled in our state's government degree colleges and offers internship opportunities to students with industry connections. It keeps track of student attendance at mapped industries, keeps a logbook record, and automates daily grading and other administrative tasks. I-MAP is essential to contemporary email communication because it provides users with a consistent and easy-to-use email experience by being flexible, accessible, and cross-device synchronized.

The screenshot shows the i-Map app interface on a mobile device. The top navigation bar includes the time (12:43), battery level (84%), and signal strength. The main screen displays the following information:

- Inters: No Interns for Today.
- Calendar View Status: February 2024. The 29th is highlighted in red, indicating a final year internship. The days of the week are labeled S, M, T, W, T, F, S.
- Batch Members Wise Status: A list of students with their names and OAM numbers:

3.3.Scholarships:

Andhra Pradesh government's Jnanabhumi portal

Jnanabhumi: The Andhra Pradesh government has a dedicated web portal for launching the numerous scholarship programs that are provided by various government agencies. In 2017, it made its digital platform debut. This online gateway has completely changed the way that educational information is managed and accessed by offering a wide range of services and resources. Pre-Matric, Post-Matric, and other scholarship programs are implemented and funded by the state government with the assistance of extra support services to enhance the educational experience even more. These programs were previously implemented via the AP E pass portal.
