Role of Indian Army

- Background:

- Indian Army's role is not only limited to handling borders, terrorism, UN Missions but also following the motto "Service before self" it highly devoted their entire life for the service of the people. The Indian Army plays a significant role in tackling with losses of people during natural calamities.

- Responsibilities:

- Our Indian army is the second largest in the world with about 1.23 million personnel on active rolls and another 9.6 lakhs in reserves. The Indian army is mainly responsible to protect the country against land-based attacks.

- Duty of Soldiers:

- The Indian army consists of soldiers and Para commands who are the protectors of our country. The security of our country depends on the soldier and if he will be fully trained then only our country would be safe. The soldiers spend their whole night without resting. They do their duty 24 hours and 365 days.

- Ruling:

- The Government of India is responsible for ensuring the defence of India and every part thereof. The Supreme Command of the Indian Armed Forces vests in the President. The responsibility for national defence rests with the Cabinet.
